

Obsidium is a leading provider of technology based risk and standards management solutions. We work with organisations to not only better manage risk and meet compliance standards but also to improve their productivity and bottom line profitability.

It is well proven that a safe and supportive working environment is both more productive and a key component in the attraction and retention of talented staff. Safety is indeed very good for business, which is why mere compliance should not be seen as the end game.

SafeTsmart is Obsidium's sophisticated on line management software suite that handles the complexity of interrelated processes and activities involved in managing people related risk in the contemporary organisation. What's more SafeTsmart is easily adapted to manage, quality, environmental and other dimensions of risk and standards management.

Obsidium solutions are equally at home in any industry sector and with a range of service delivery options can meet the needs of both the industrial titan and the smaller operator.

Obsidium has an Australasian wide client base spanning many different industry sectors, including, mining, utilities, transport, local authorities, education, and construction.

To talk through your particular requirements and to see just how an Obsidium workspace solution might work for your organisation contact us on one of the following options. Email us at info@safetsmart.com or Phone us on 0800 446 829

LOWER RISK , GREATER REWARD